0403

National University of Computer and Emerging Sciences
Lahore Campus

Expository Writing (SS1014)

Sessional-II Exam

Date: 9 April, 2026

Course Instructor(s)

Dr. Kalsoom Jahan
Dr. Saadia Rasheed
Dr. Sara Khan
Mr. Razm ul Zafar
Ms. Nokhaiz Zahra
Ms. Falaknaz Zia
Ms. Zakia Naeem

Total Time (Hrs): 1
Total Marks: 35
Total Questions: 2

Roll No _____ Section _____ Student Signature _____

Do not write below this line

Attempt all the questions on the answer sheets.

CLO 3: Express ideas with logical and well-supported arguments

Q1: Write an introductory paragraph for an Argumentative Essay in 80-90 words on the Topic: [10]

"Is automation a threat to employees' economic opportunities?"

Note: Use 'Rhetorical Question' as a Reader's Hook. Underline your Thesis Statement.

Use the following excerpt to generate ideas and ensure that you do not copy any text from it.

We are often told that machines are quietly moving toward a future in which much of human labour will no longer be needed, as though this shift were both inevitable and neutral. Certainly, such technologies promise greater efficiency and a smoother workflow, reducing errors and saving time. Yet their presence is never entirely independent. What they change, they do not simply erase; rather, they reshape the nature of work itself. In doing so, they reflect the priorities and decisions of those who design and control them. What appears, at first glance, to be progress may carry within it both possibility and disruption, inviting us to look more closely at questions of power, inequality, and the direction in which work is moving.

Source: O'Brien, H. (2021). The Automation Delusion. In A. Rosa & P. Eschholz (Eds.), Models for writers: Short Essays for Composition (14th ed.). Bedford/St. Martin's.

Your Introductory Paragraph should contain:

➢ Introductory Paragraph

- Reader's Hook (Rhetorical Question)
- Context/Background sentence(s)
- Three-point thesis statement
- Transitional Hook

Scanned with CamScanner

CLO 3: Express ideas with logical and well-supported arguments

Q2: Write a Narrative Essay in 350–400 words on the Topic: [25]

"The Funny Mistake I will Never Forget"

Note: Use 'Anecdote' as a Reader's Hook. Underline your Thesis Statement

Use the following excerpt to generate ideas and ensure that you do not copy any text from it.

I sat there quietly, trying to understand what everyone else seemed to grasp so easily. Around me, people responded with confidence, as if they knew exactly what was expected of them. I waited for my turn, hoping something would suddenly make sense, but instead, I felt more uncertain with each passing moment. When all eyes turned toward me, I felt a strange pressure to do what others had already done. Not wanting to appear confused or left behind, I stood up and confidently gave an answer, only to realize, from the sudden laughter around me, that I had responded to the wrong question entirely. For a moment, I froze, unsure whether to laugh or sit down. Later, when I thought about it, the situation felt both embarrassing and amusing. What had seemed serious at the time now appeared as a small, funny mistake, one that stayed with me and became a story I could laugh about later.

Source: Hughes, L. (2021). Salvation. In A. Rosa & P. Eschholz (Eds.), Models for Writers: Short Essays for Composition (14th ed.). Bedford/St. Martin's.

Your Essay should contain:

➢ Introductory Paragraph
- Reader's Hook (Anecdote)
- Context/Background sentence(s)
- Three-point thesis statement (Rising Action, Climax, Falling Action)
- Transitional Hook

➢ 3 Body paragraphs
- Topic sentence
- 2 Major details
- 1-2 minor supporting details
- Transitional hook (in body paragraphs 1& 2)

➢ Concluding paragraph

Scanned with CamScanner