
management

ninth edition

STEPHEN P. ROBBINS MARY COULTER

Chapter 1

Introduction to Management and Organizations

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc.
All rights reserved.

PEARSON Prentice Hall

PowerPoint Presentation by Charlie Cook
The University of West Alabama

LEARNING OUTLINE

Follow this Learning Outline as you read and study this chapter.

Who Are Managers?

- Explain how managers differ from non-managerial employees.
- Describe how to classify managers in organizations.

What Is Management?

- Define management.
- Explain why efficiency and effectiveness are important to management.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

LEARNING OUTLINE (cont'd)

Follow this Learning Outline as you read and study this chapter.

What Do Managers Do?

- Describe the four functions of management.
- Explain Mintzberg's managerial roles.
- Describe Katz's three essential managerial skills and how the importance of these skills changes depending on managerial level.
- Discuss the changes that are impacting managers' jobs.
- Explain why customer service and innovation are important to the manager's job.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

LEARNING OUTLINE (cont'd)

Follow this Learning Outline as you read and study this chapter.

What Is An Organization?

- Describe the characteristics of an organization.
- Explain how the concept of an organization is changing.

Why Study Management?

- Explain the universality of management concept.
- Discuss why an understanding of management is important.
- Describe the rewards and challenges of being a manager.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Who Are Managers?

- Manager
  - Someone who coordinates and oversees the work of other people so that organizational goals can be accomplished.
  - Manager job is not just doing their own work but also other managerial duties

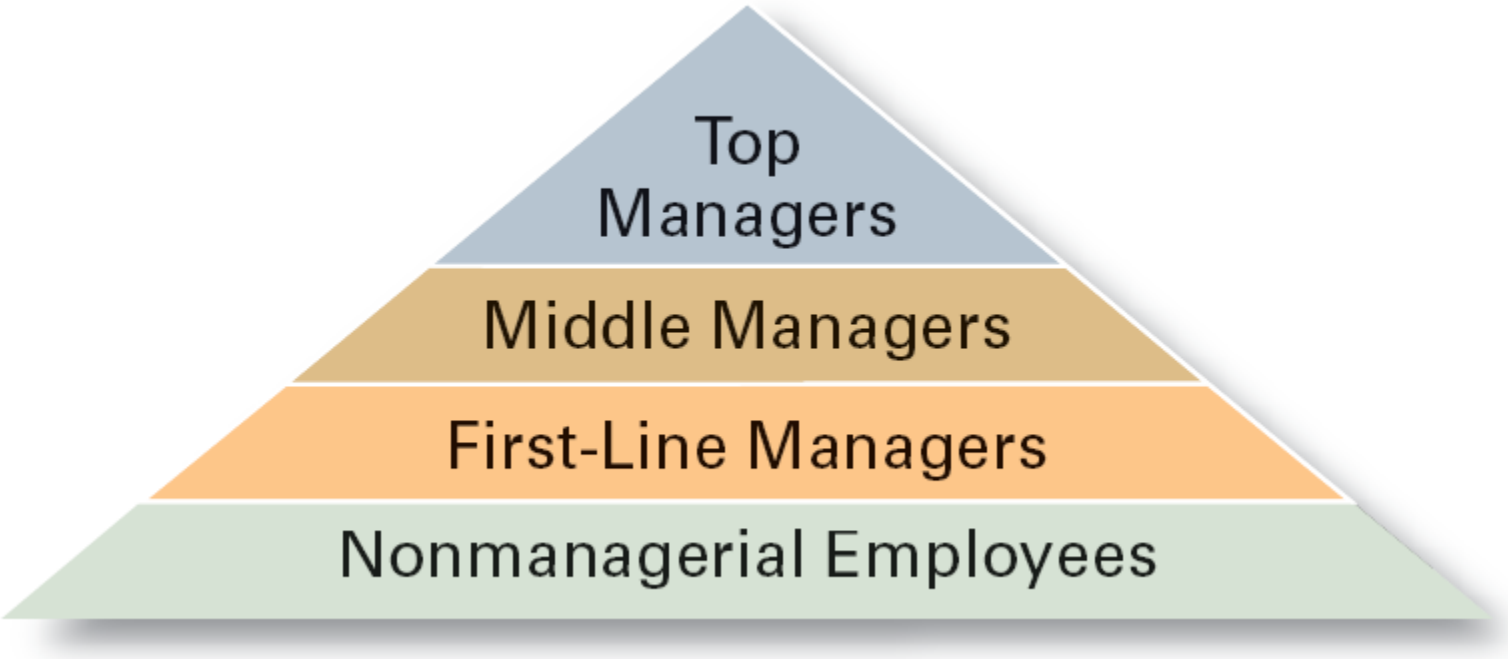
© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Classifying Managers

- First-line Managers
  - Individuals who manage the work of non-managerial employees. They are at the lowest level of management.
  - Titles: Supervisor, Shift Manager, Office Manager.
- Middle Managers
  - Individuals who manage the work of first-line managers.
  - Titles: Regional Manager, Project Leader, Store Manager, Division Manager.
- Top Managers
  - Individuals who are responsible for making organization-wide decisions and establishing plans and goals that affect the entire organization.
  - Titles: CEO, Managing Director, President, COO.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–1 Managerial Levels



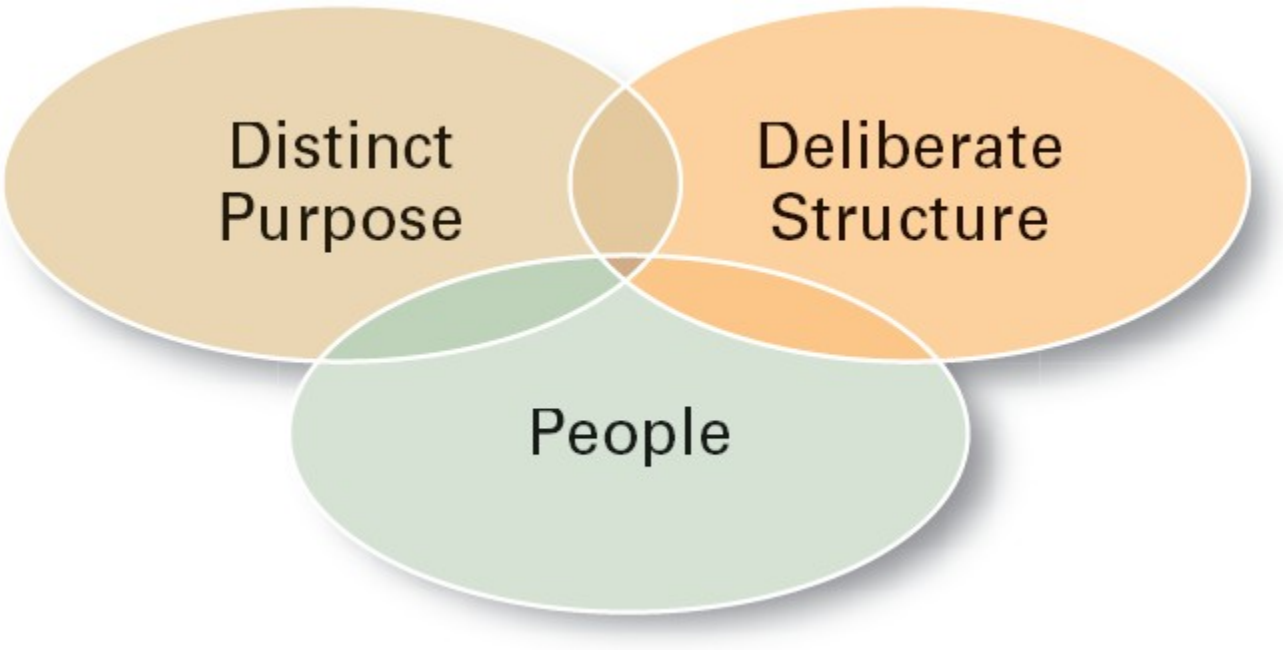
© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

What Is An Organization?

- An Organization Defined
  - A deliberate arrangement of people to accomplish some specific purpose (that individuals independently could not accomplish alone).
- Common Characteristics of Organizations
  - Have a distinct purpose (goal)
  - Composed of people
  - Have a deliberate structure

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–9 Characteristics of Organizations



© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

👉 Where Do Managers Work?

- Managers work in organizations.

What is an organization?

An organization is a group of people arranged in a certain way to achieve a specific purpose.

All organizations have 3 common things:

1. A Purpose (Goals): Why the organization exists.
2. People: Who do the work to achieve that purpose.
3. A Structure: How the work and people are organized (it can be flexible like Google or strict like Procter & Gamble).

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

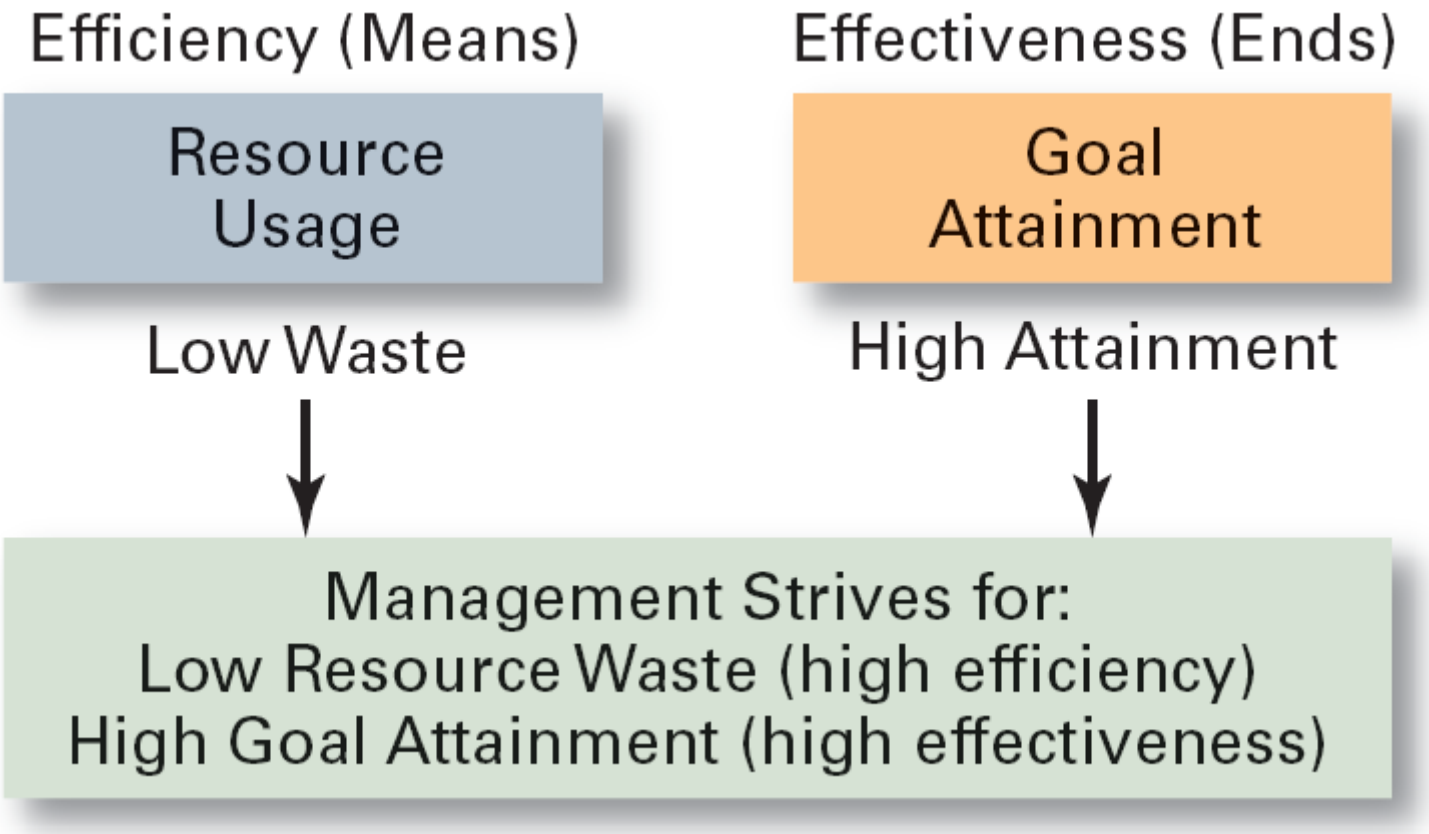
What Is Management?

Management means coordinating and overseeing the work of others so that the work is done:

- Managerial Concerns
  - Efficiency
    - "Doing things right"
      - Getting the most output for the least inputs
  - Effectiveness
    - "Doing the right things"
      - Attaining organizational goals

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–2 Effectiveness and Efficiency in Management



© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

What Do Managers Do?

- Functional Approach
  - Planning
    - Defining goals, establishing strategies to achieve goals, developing plans to integrate and coordinate activities.
  - Organizing
    - Arranging and structuring work to accomplish organizational goals.
  - Leading
    - Working with and through people to accomplish goals.
  - Controlling
    - Monitoring, comparing, and correcting work.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–3 Management Functions

Planning	Organizing	Leading	Controlling
Defining goals, establishing strategy, and developing plans to coordinate activities	Determining what needs to be done, how it will be done, and who is to do it	Motivating, leading, and any other actions involved in dealing with people	Monitoring activities to ensure that they are accomplished as planned

Lead to

Achieving the organization's stated purposes

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

What Do Managers Do? (cont'd)

- Management Roles Approach (Mintzberg)
  - Interpersonal roles
    - Figurehead, leader, liaison
  - Informational roles
    - Monitor, disseminator, spokesperson
  - Decisional roles
    - Enterpreneur,Disturbance handler, resource allocator, negotiator

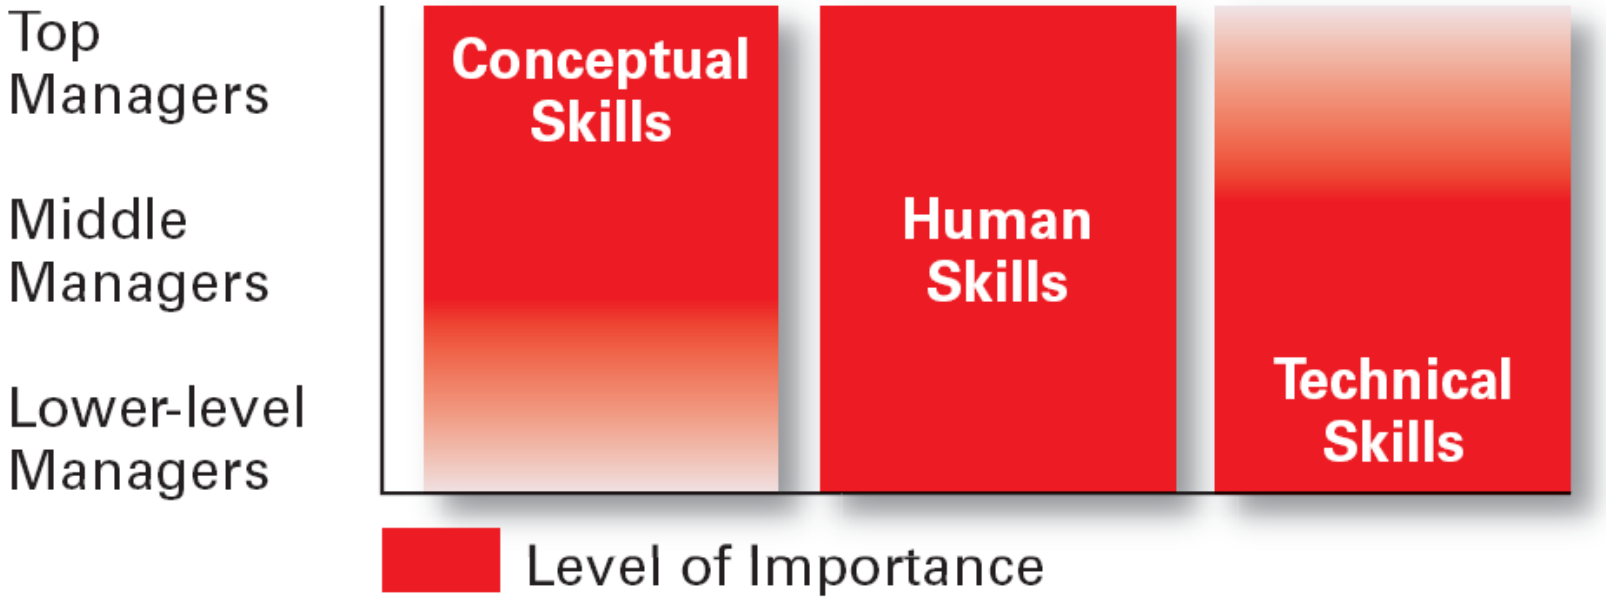
© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

What Do Managers Do? (cont'd)

- Skills Approach
  - Technical skills
    - Knowledge and proficiency in a specific field
  - Human skills
    - The ability to work well with other people
  - Conceptual skills
    - The ability to think and conceptualize about abstract and complex situations concerning the organization

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–5 Skills Needed at Different Management Levels



© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

💻 Scenario: Launching a New Software Product at a Tech Company

👨‍💼 Top Managers (e.g., CTO, CEO)

- Most Important Skill: Conceptual Skills
  - These leaders focus on setting the vision and strategic direction for the software product.
  - Example: The CTO defines how the new product aligns with emerging technologies like AI or cloud computing and how it fits into the company's long-term roadmap.

🧑‍💼 Middle Managers (e.g., Product Managers, Engineering Managers)

- Most Important Skill: Human Skills
  - These managers coordinate teams, manage conflicts, and ensure that various departments (engineering, marketing, QA) work together smoothly.
  - Example: The Product Manager collaborates with developers and designers, facilitating communication and aligning goals.

👨‍🔧 Lower-Level Managers (e.g., Team Leads, Tech Leads)

- Most Important Skill: Technical Skills
  - They are directly involved in the technical implementation and need a deep understanding of coding, architecture, or testing.
  - Example: A Tech Lead writes code, reviews pull requests, and helps the team debug issues in the new software.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–6 Conceptual Skills

- Using information to solve business problems
- Identifying of opportunities for innovation
- Recognizing problem areas and implementing solutions
- Selecting critical information from masses of data
- Understanding of business uses of technology
- Understanding of organization's business model

Source: Based on American Management Association Survey of Managerial Skills and Competencies, March/April 2000, found on AMA Web site (www.ama.org), October 30, 2002.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–6 Communication Skills

- Ability to transform ideas into words and actions
- Credibility among colleagues, peers, and subordinates
- Listening and asking questions
- Presentation skills; spoken format
- Presentation skills; written and/or graphic formats

Source: Based on American Management Association Survey of Managerial Skills and Competencies, March/April 2000, found on AMA Web site (www.ama.org), October 30, 2002.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–6 Effectiveness Skills

- Contributing to corporate mission/departmental objectives
- Customer focus
- Multitasking: working at multiple tasks in parallel
- Negotiating skills
- Project management :Project management is the process of planning, organizing, and managing resources to successfully complete a specific goal or project within defined constraints such as time, budget, and scope)
- Reviewing operations and implementing improvements

Source: Based on American Management Association Survey of Managerial Skills and Competencies, March/April 2000, found on AMA Web site (www.ama.org), October 30, 2002.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–6 Effectiveness Skills (cont'd)

- Setting and maintaining performance standards internally and externally
- Setting priorities for attention and activity
- Time management

Source: Based on American Management Association Survey of Managerial Skills and Competencies, March/April 2000, found on AMA Web site (www.ama.org), October 30, 2002.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–6 Interpersonal Skills (cont'd)

- Coaching and mentoring skills
- Diversity skills: working with diverse people and cultures
- Networking within the organization
- Networking outside the organization
- Working in teams; cooperation and commitment

Source: Based on American Management Association Survey of Managerial Skills and Competencies, March/April 2000, found on AMA Web site (www.ama.org), October 30, 2002.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–7 Management Skills and Management Function Matrix

	Function
Skill	Planning	Organizing	Leading	Controlling
Acquiring power		✓	✓
Active listening			✓	✓
Budgeting	✓			✓
Choosing an effective leadership style			✓
Coaching			✓
Creating effective teams		✓	✓
Delegating (empowerment)		✓	✓
Designing motivating jobs		✓	✓
Developing trust			✓
Disciplining			✓	✓
Interviewing		✓	✓
Managing conflict			✓	✓
Managing resistance to change		✓	✓	✓
Mentoring			✓
Negotiating			✓
Providing feedback			✓	✓
Reading an organization's culture		✓	✓
Running productive meetings	✓	✓	✓	✓
Scanning the environment	✓			✓
Setting goals	✓			✓
Solving problems creatively	✓	✓	✓	✓
Valuing diversity	✓	✓	✓	✓

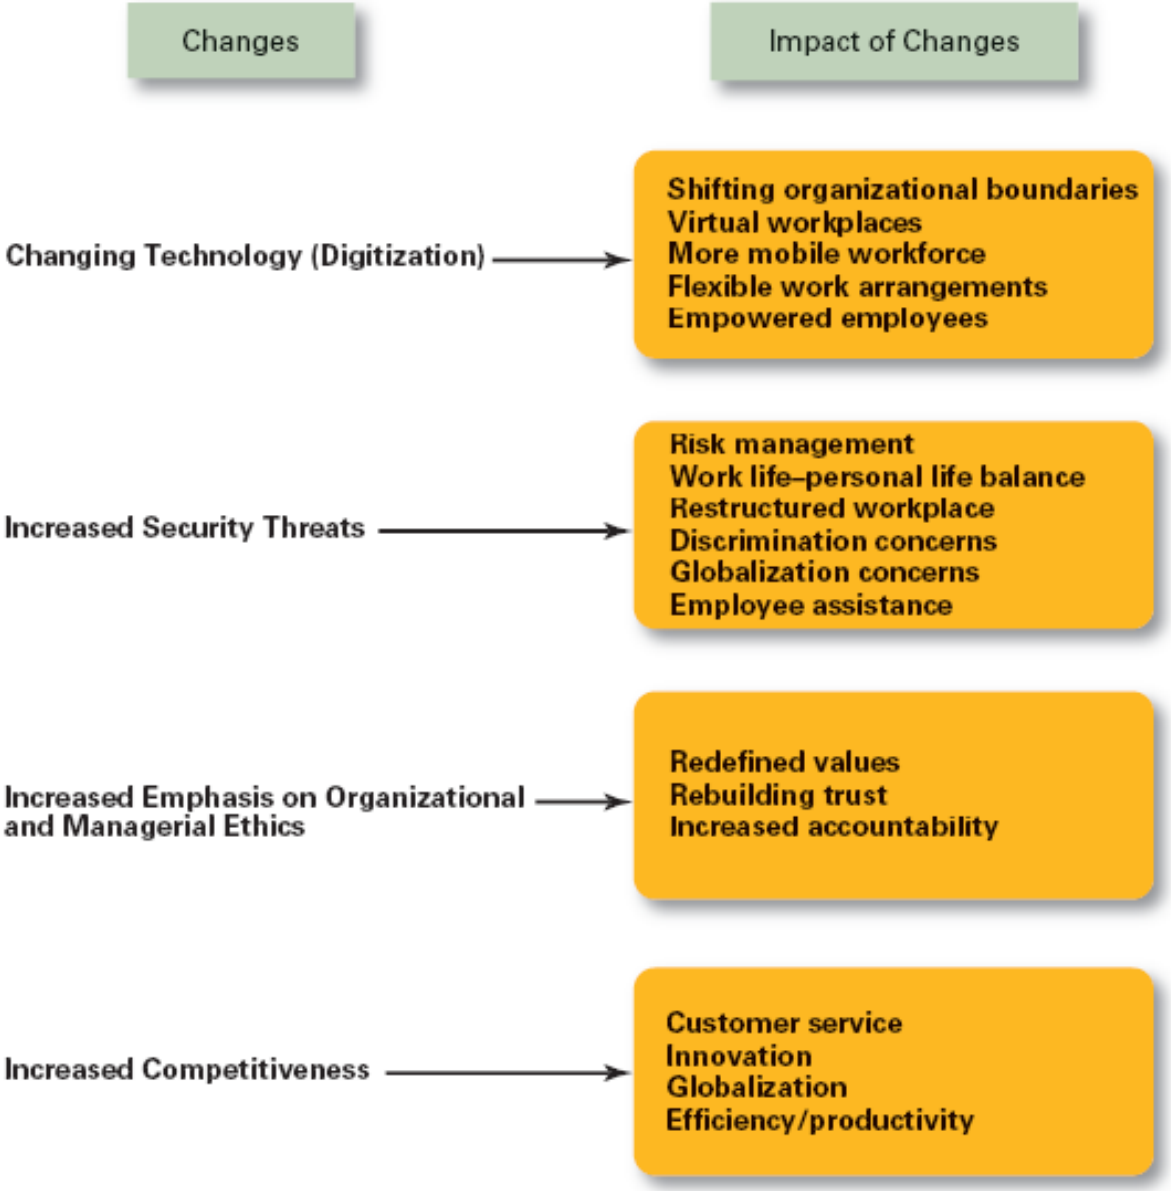
© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

How The Manager's Job Is Changing

- The Increasing Importance of Customers
  - Customers: the reason that organizations exist
    - Managing customer relationships is the responsibility of all managers and employees.
    - Consistent high quality customer service is essential for survival.
- Innovation
  - Doing things differently, exploring new territory, and taking risks
    - Managers should encourage employees to be aware of and act on opportunities for innovation.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–8 Changes Impacting the Manager's Job



© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Why Study Management?

- The Value of Studying Management
  - The universality of management
    - Good management is needed in all organizations.
  - The reality of work
    - Employees either manage or are managed.
  - Rewards and challenges of being a manager
    - Management offers challenging, exciting and creative opportunities for meaningful and fulfilling work.
    - Successful managers receive significant monetary rewards for their efforts.

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–11 Universal Need for Management

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Exhibit 1–12 Rewards and Challenges of Being A Manager

Rewards	Challenges
• Create a work environment in which organizational members can work to the best of their ability • Have opportunities to think creatively and use imagination • Help others find meaning and fulfillment in work • Support, coach, and nurture others • Work with a variety of people • Receive recognition and status in organization and community • Play a role in influencing organizational outcomes • Receive appropriate compensation in form of salaries, bonuses, and stock options • Good managers are needed by organizations	• Do hard work • May have duties that are more clerical than managerial • Have to deal with a variety of personalities • Often have to make do with limited resources • Motivate workers in chaotic and uncertain situations • Successfully blend knowledge, skills, ambitions, and experiences of a diverse work group • Success depends on others' work performance

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.

Terms to Know

- manager
- first-line managers
- middle managers
- top managers
- management
- efficiency
- effectiveness
- planning
- organizing
- leading
- controlling
- management roles
- interpersonal roles
- informational roles
- decisional roles
- technical skills
- human skills
- conceptual skills
- organization
- universality of management

© 2007 Prentice Hall, Inc. All rights reserved.